

PRIVACY POLICY

Protection of personal data

The administrator of the databitlab.eu website is committed to the correct and secure use of personal data in its operations. Personal data provided by the user via forms on the website databitlab.eu or otherwise (by phone, e-mail, etc.) are strictly confidential and are treated as confidential information, so without a legal basis they will not be passed on to unauthorized third parties. persons.

Personal data is not treated as sensitive data

Consent to the processing and protection of personal data

The user of the databitlab.eu website expressly agrees that for the purpose of using the website and providing electronic services, related system management and informing the user, the user's personal data is collected and processed. Only data necessary for the proper performance of services and communication between the manager and the users of the website are collected. We reserve the right to use the data obtained in this way and in accordance with the general terms and conditions published on this website, to use all other data continuously and without restrictions for the needs of the administrator, owner or provider, as stated in the general terms and conditions. does not object. The personal data obtained on the website are obtained in a manner consistent with the European Parliament's GDPR Regulation, provided that by confirming the general terms and conditions, the user agrees and gives explicit permission to use the provided personal data for further communication between the controller and the user. It is considered that the user is aware of the purpose of personal data processing, the availability of personal data and the possibility of deletion. In particular, the user agrees to the processing of personal data for the purposes of the implementation of contracts and pre-contractual measures, without restrictions. The internal act on data protection, if it exists, is an integral part of the general conditions and is available at the seat of the controller.

Personal consent of the user

The operator provides the possibility of personal consent of the user, where necessary, without a pre-filled confirmation box (in the case of direct contact via e-mail, telephone, on the basis of the website). The personal consent of the user is his voluntary declaration of will that his personal data may be processed for a specific purpose, and is given on the basis of information provided to him by the controller with these general terms and conditions.

Retention of personal data

The data collected by the site administrator is stored for the needs of the site administrator in accordance with the general conditions. Personal data is stored in an e-mail, which is a summary of the request and in case of further communication with the user in other databases of the company (CRM, Trello, Excel).

The user may request access to his personal data or data on the processing of his personal data by authorized persons by a written request addressed to the e-mail address of the administrator of the website databitlab.eu.

Availability of personal data

Personal data is stored on the databitlab.eu website in the event of a request and is accessible to the website manager and administrator. The administrator is considered to be the controller of personal data and the administrator of the website is the processor. The processor may not and cannot use personal data for its own needs and may only use them for the needs of the personal data controller, according to the instructions of the controller.

Access to personal data is also provided to roaming providers, who may not access personal data by mutual agreement without the permission of the controller.

It is considered that the employees and authorized persons of the administrator and the processor also have access to the legally permitted extent. All these persons are committed to the careful protection of personal data.

Protection of personal data

Personal data is protected and we make sure that unauthorized persons are prevented from accessing it. In the event of a breach of this article, we undertake to inform the user of any unauthorized access to their personal data.

Data protection officer

The responsible person is specified in the internal act on data protection and is disclosed at the request of the user. Due to data protection, it is not published publicly online.

Rights of individuals

The data subject has the right to inspect the personal data being processed. He also has the right to request the correction or supplementation of his personal data as well as the deletion of his personal data, without explanation and without cause, which he does by e-mail addressed to the e-mail address info@databitlab.eu.

Final Provisions

The website and all subpages are owned and managed by the company DataBitLab, d.o.o., Kočevarjeva ulica 7, 2000 Maribor, ID: SI71962794, which is also the controller of personal data and the administrator of the website.

The General Terms and Conditions enter into force on April 12, 2018. All changes and additions come into force on the day of publication on the website.